Problem

- 1.22M Work Permit holders rely on employers who control their permits, passports and phones. (Phase 1 Focus on MDW and CMP)
- Official channels are English-first and need a phone, login or visit during office hours
- Fearing dismissal, workers avoid MOM and NGOs, so small doubts become disputes
- Rising caseload for MOM and TADM: salary claims grew 33% in two years, reaching 10,801 in 2025

Solution

- 24/7 kiosks at MRT stations, malls and community centres; no phone, login, data or call charges
- Workers can check labour laws, ask whether an employer's actions are legal, and safely report any exploitation.
- RAG-based AI answers from a verified, NGO-reviewed knowledge base of Singapore labour law
- Routes workers to MOM, MWC, HealthServe or NGOs with a printed referral slip in their language

Key Features

- Ask in 28 languages, including Bahasa Indonesia, Bengali, Tamil and Burmese, with no phone or login needed
- Check labour laws, ask whether an employer's actions are legal, and safely report any exploitation
- AI sorts each case and prints an anonymous referral slip for MOM, MWC or partner NGOs

Business Model

- B2G kiosk platform contracts with governments, as with Ansan City in Korea
- Capital-light: local partners handle hardware, NGOs and sites provide content and reach
- Proven in Korea, our RAG backend is localised per market: Singapore first, then Hong Kong and Malaysia.
- GoBridge is HelloFriends' core service; we also run VizaBridge Corp to help foreign founders soft-land in Korea, and give university seminars supporting international students.
